

A spokesperson for Communications Minister Paul Fletcher said:

“This is an operational matter for NBN Co. NBN Co has been engaging with the Samford community on local rollout plans and is tasked with determining the technology mix that is best suited for the area’s unique topography and large acreages. We are confident that NBN Co will consider a range of factors in its decision-making, including the practicalities and cost per premises of implementation options, in order to meet the Government’s expectation of providing premises with access to broadband with wholesale download speeds of at least 25 megabits per second.”
